

Opening Hearts & Providing Inspiration and Joy

In a perfect world, our planet is socially just, sustainable and spiritually fulfilled. It sure seems like we are light years away from any of that right now, but that doesn't mean we shouldn't keep trying. Our hearts and minds must remain open and willing to hear, and try, new things. Yes, a lot of the work that needs to be done is difficult, even heartbreaking. It would be easy to lose sight of your ultimate goal when you are witnessing the suffering and chaos that is part of the nightly news. But think of the rewards involved with being a part of positive change. The process of contributing to change can actually be deeply rewarding, inspirational and even joyful.

People who are interested in pursuing the arts are usually gifted with the ability to put people in touch with their higher purpose and deeper selves. Any form of education, entertainment, music, art, film, photography, dance or creative expression will have a direct effect on the human spirit.

Check out the opportunities listed below to see if anything strikes your interest. If so, do some more research. Find out what's required of you to get started towards that career field. Which college should you attend? Are there internships available? Is there a special school you should apply to? What can you do to gain an advantage over others when applying?
