

Raising Consciousness

A Changemaker who builds the foundation for raising consciousness is actually providing the building blocks for all of the other desperately needed changes that we are looking for. As people become more aware of how their life is intertwined with all life, they will naturally make better decisions that lead to a sustainable world that benefits us all.

Any career or business that provides you with the opportunity to raise the consciousness of the people attending your class, workshops or retreats will have a tremendous impact on our planet. They're also very rewarding and instill a sense of relief, accomplishment, and success.

Check out the opportunities listed below to see if anything interests you. If so, do some more research. Find out what's required of you to get started in that career field. Is there a special college you should attend? Are there internships available? Is there a special program you should apply to? Where are these jobs located? What can you do to better your chances? Know anyone already in this career field? Maybe you'll make some new friends who are likeminded and interested in a similar career!
